

1

ABSTRACT

2           A single body multi-tool device having a plurality of compartments in a housing thereof.
3        Mounted in these compartments are various hand tools such as a hatchet, a digging tool, a
4        flashlight, a knife and a saw, each being separately usable without interfering with the operation
5        and/or use of another of the tools. This multi-tool device is generally concerned with the field of 6        hand tools, and is specifically concerned with hand tools used in the outdoors, such as while 7        camping.